The Joint Committee on the Library is a joint committee of the United States Congress devoted to the affairs and administration of the Library of Congress. There are five members of each house on the committee. The Committee has oversight of the operations of the Library of Congress, as well as management of the congressional art collection and the United States Botanic Garden, but does not have legislative authority. Membership consists of the chairman and four Members of the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration, chairman and four Members of the Committee on House Administration and chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations. The chairmanship of the Committee changes between the House and Senate every two years.